VIII double international workshop

XXI CENTURY COUNTRYSIDE URBANISM: IDENTITY EVOLUTION AND TRANS-URBAN LANDSCAPE DESIGN

activity

DOUBLE INTERNATIONAL WORKSHOP

After a period of unbridled urban growth, the People's Republic of China is beginning to consider new forms of growth in which the medium is the referential matrix. The objective of the Workshop to project the urban/landscape of diffused complexity is a space for experimentation in Mengwu, 35 km from the center of Beijing, where conventional and new urban functions are interrelated with undefined limits in the creation of a trans-urban landscape.

Proposals for a new city in which urban and industrial development is in harmony with the ecological matrix and the leisure and thematic spaces. Mengwu is an area where protected spaces of interest, of great potential for tourism and settlements of very low quality converge, creating a new city-rural, reinventing the garden city as ecological-landscape city for the XXI century.
