

EMiLA SUMMER SCHOOL 2024 MARSEILLE, FRANCE

Les Plages du Prado

Future Visions for a Life between the City and the Sea

activity

The one-week EMiLA Summer School will take place on the Mediterranean coast, in the city of Marseille. We will investigate the intertwined relationships between the sea, the coast and the city, by concentrating on a site around the biggest beach of Marseille - Les Plages du Prado. We will dive into the cultural meanings and the collective imagination of the beach landscape and project its future evolution in the frame of a rapidly changing maritime, coastal and urban environment.

The Summer School will begin with a three-day immersion to the site and the city via work and exploration outdoors and the second half will take place in the studios of the school. The working methods will be group-based and emphasise thinking-together and doing-together in exploring imaginative and positive future horizons between land and water.

dates & venue

17th - 24th August 2024 (Marseille, France)

participant universities

AHK Amsterdam (EMiLA)
ENSP Versailles Marseille (EMiLA)
UPC-ETSAB/EEABB Barcelona (EMiLA)
LUH Hannover (EMiLA)
ECA/ESALA Edinburgh (EMiLA)
AHO Oslo (guest)

organized by

EMiLA
European Master in Landscape Architecture

école
nationale supérieure de paysage

UPC coordinator

Prof. Luis Maldonado

addressed to

4 places for 1st year MBLandArch students

fee

250€ The fee covers accommodation but does not include other expenses such as travel to Marseille public transport, meals...

credits

no credits for non EMiLA students

observations

Workshop will be in English Valid documentation is required to travel to France on the indicated dates.

application

deadline: 20th May 2024
send email to: relint.etsab@upc.edu with subject: taller EMiLA-Marseille 2024_name surname with your: name / ID / email / current ETSAB studies attach: brief portfolio / motivation letter /proof of English level

queries at: luis.maldonado@upc.edu

2023
2024 tallers internacionales

relint.etsab@upc.edu
oficina relaciones internacionales etsab

